Developing a TEDMED-Style Research Presentation Workshop

Have you been inspired by the personal, compelling nature of TED and TEDMED talks? Do you wish you could present your work in a way that connects with your audience and distills your work into an uplifting story with lasting impact? Think how helpful this skill would be in explaining your research to your friends, family, potential employers, or a funding agency! The compelling nature of TED and TEDMED talks is not due to the inherent skills of the speaker. These skills are learned, but you have to start somewhere. In this interactive workshop, trainees will take their presentation / research concepts through a transformation using the principles and instructions given to actual TEDMED and TED speakers, as described in the new book "TED Talks: The Official TED Guide to Public Speaking". This interactive workshop will cover how to shape your message and how to deliver this message effectively on stage. At the end of the workshop, trainees will have the opportunity to present key aspects of their message.
